Dust

Every effort will be made to reduce dust levels when grinding the courts including vacuums, however, dust will be present.

Acrylic Surfaces

Please note that during the manufacturing process of the acrylic sports surfaces glycols and coalescing agents are part of the formulation. These materials are an essential part of the formulation as they are critical for the correct application and curing of the product. These materials remain present in the coating film following application and can cause the surface to become slippery when wet. Weather including heat, sunshine, and rainfall will remove these components from the surface over time.
